Bobbitt Dissects Ewell.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)
CRAB ORCHARD, July 25.—R. L. Ewell, of London, and F. F. Bobbitt discussed the new constitution at this place to-day. Mr. Ewell is not one of the number challenged by the Cicero of the Mountains, nor does Bobbitt consider Ewell his peer, "But no man can invade my home dominion and I not draw my weapon of defence," said Bobbitt.
Quite a crowd was out to hear them, two-thirds of whom were republicans who had come out to hear the man who had twice been their standard bearer for Congress in the Eighth district. Mr. Ewell made a pretty little speech and when he touched the clause on slavery he grew eloquent and his appeal to the colored brethren was touching, telling them that the present constitution could again make them wear the chains of slavery. But the applause was noted for his silence.
He spoke 1 1/2 hours, when Bobbitt came forward. Now in the past we have never been a Bobbitt man, but to do him justice he completely shook asunder all his opponent had said and showed the new constitution to be the most ridiculous and damnable article ever penned by man. He was applauded by friend and foe. As a man posted on the new constitution we rank Bobbitt next to John Rhea. We are satisfied that Mr. Ewell will never dare meet Bobbitt on this subject for not only is he more than a match for Laurel's gifted son, but he has the subject.
As Mr. Ewell is a Christian preacher he will preach in this place to-morrow. Now we agree with Bro. Ewell on his religion and think that should this new constitution and his politics damn him, if he will stick to the Campbellite doctrine there is a chance for his soul. N.

In Memory of Willie Johnston.

Willie B. Johnston, son of David S. Johnston and Mrs. Mollie E. Johnston, died at his home in Lincoln Co., Ky., on July 22, 1891, aged eighteen years, three months and eight days. The intellectual and moral attainments of Willie B. Johnston were such as to entitle his name to an enduring record upon the sacred tablets of all hearts that knew him. This paper is not intended as a pronounced eulogy to his memory, but rather as the truthful statement of the essential factors that were the formative forces in moulding a character that challenges our admiration.
First, he was trained by christian parents in the way he should go. His associations were pure and kept pure. He was raised up under the influence of the Sunday school and the church. At the age of fourteen he made profession of his faith in the Savior, and became a member of the Christian church at Hustonville, Ky., and filled efficiently the office of secretary of the Sunday school until his death. In the meantime he had received a first-class business education under the tuition of President M. G. Thomson, of the Christian College, Hustonville, Ky., and had accepted business as clerk in the Hustonville National Bank. While discharging the duties of this position, he was taken suddenly ill with la grippe on March 28, 1891.

During the progress of the disease, his lungs became seriously involved, when it soon became apparent that no human hand could long resist its fearful advances or long delay the fatal crisis. Becoming assured that his life on earth must soon be closed, he gave every assurance of a readiness to depart, and expressed the greatest concern for his parents and for his brothers and sisters, and for his grandmother Cloyd, who so faithfully had ministered to his comfort, that they all would meet him in the better land. He also requested the writer to deliver a farewell message to his Sunday School, earnestly beseeching all of them to meet him in heaven. July 23, at 10:30 A. M., his body was conveyed to the Christian church in a very neat casket, accompanied by six young gentlemen friends as pall-bearers, and a large assembly of neighbors and friends. After a short discourse based upon 2nd Samuel 9:22-23, and other appropriate services, the body was conveyed to the cemetery and there gently laid down to rest. After having been filled, the grave was soon covered by a thick spread of beautiful flowers, as symbols of the love of the living for the dear name and memory of the departed. He leaves behind a character without fault. His young life was an honor to his father and his mother, to his family, to his community, to his church and to his God.
"But 'tis God who hath bereft us
He can all our sorrows heal."
W. L. WILLIAMS.

—An earthquake shook up Evansville, Ind., Sunday night, but did no further damage than to scare many people into fits.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good if you have a cough, cold or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief or money will be paid back. Subscribers from La Grappe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at A. R. Penny's drug store. Large size 50 cents and $1.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Hon. M. J. Durham will erect a memorial window to his grandfather in the new Methodist church, Danville, says the Advocate.
—Rev. George Hunt will preach his farewell sermon at the Baptist church next Sunday, to the sincere regret of many friends and admirers.
—In the past century Protestants have increased from 37,000,000 to 137,000,000, nearly four-fold. Romanists from 80,000,000 to 163,000,000, or two-fold.
—The Rev. Henry E. Sutherland, of the M. E. church, of Hazleton, Pa., has been convicted in the United States Court, at Erie, of sending obscene matter through the mails.
—The meeting at the Methodist church closed Sunday night after a very pleasant and profitable continuance of a week. There were no additions. Mr. Godbey would have continued the meeting but for his inability to secure help.
—Rev. John Q. Paxton, the famous New York Presbyterian divine, in an interview in Pittsburg said that the Presbyterian church is on the brink of a revolution, but we suppose Bro. Paxton is more after getting advertised than telling the truth.
—The Baptist church, of this city, has called Rev. B. A. Dawes, of Mercer county, to the pastoral charge of the church, to begin September 1. In the meantime the church is to be re-frescoed and a new carpet put down in time to receive the new pastor.—Carlisle Mercury.

—It is said that several people in Rome saw the image of Christ in the Church of St. Jacob open its eyes. They told their friends of the miracle, and soon afterward crowds of people went to the church to see the image. One of the cardinals is making a careful investigation.
—Rev. Frederick Fuerst, whose amorous demonstrations toward one of the sisters at Bellevue, Ky., was met with by a shawl pin which she stuck to its head in his carcase, and who was afterwards indicted for criminal assault, has jumped his bond and skipped for parts unknown.
—The INTERIOR JOURNAL Job Printing department is getting out a full report of the last meeting of the Kentucky Conference Woman's Missionary Society for Mrs. S. C. Trueheart, secretary. The treasurer's report shows that these good women raised last year $3,000.71 for the support of their own missionaries in foreign fields. The Stanford auxiliary contributed $51.41.
—The organ has broken up another Campbellite (Christian does not apply in this case) church. This time it is at Paducah. During last winter, the ladies of the church raised quite a sum of money by frequent suppers and other catch-penny devices. There were two uses to which the money could be put, repairing the church and buying an organ. Eld. J. C. Tulley, a real estate agent, who is also a preacher, championed the repair proposition, and Eld. L. H. Sine insisted on the purchase of an organ. The latter carried his point and a $3,000 organ was bought and a $600 a year man employed to play it. The result was that the church was split wide open. The row culminated at last in an altercation in church between the two preachers, when Tulley is alleged to have drawn his knife and threatened to go for the intestines of Sine. Last week the matter was brought to the attention of the grand jury, when Tulley was indicted for disturbing public worship. Meanwhile the trouble grows in intensity and outsiders are looking on with holy horror at the final outcome.

By careful experiments made at the U. S. mint it has been shown that $5 are lost by abrasion every time $1,000,000 in gold coin are handled. The experiments were conducted with bags containing $5,000 each, and it was shown that the mere lifting of the two hundred bags making up $1,000,000 to a truck to be removed to another vault, resulted in the loss stated, and that their transfer from the truck again made a second similar loss.

A GREAT RACE.—The second day of the Danville Fair this year will see the greatest trotting race in the history of the Blue-Grass Circuit, and it will be a long time until as many good ones are seen there in one race. This will be in the 22 class, in which have been entered Bonnie Wilmore 2:22, Lizzie Mac 2:23, Nellie W. 2:21, Ready Boy 2:20, Walter Herr 2:21, and Sallie B. 2:23. These horses are all well-known campaigners and the race will be hotly contested.

THE RULING PASSION.—Hockstein—I vos tired of life. Gif me some poison, and so I vill kill meinself. Drug clerk (jocularly)—All right. What do you want—arsenic or strychnine? Hockstein—Vich vos der sheapest?—N. Y. Herald.

—Paris green is the standard remedy for potato bugs, and when thoroughly tried is always effective. A desert spoonful of the poison to a bucket of water is enough.

MT. SALEM.

—The "people are brightened up at this place considerably since the good rains and are strictly opposed to the new constitution.
—Farmers are making hay now while the sun shines, but the meadows are very poor this year except in some of the river bottoms.
—We received a brief call from Sam Menefee recently. He seems to be a hustler and is what might be called a "chip of the old block."
—George Wilcher killed a large rattlesnake last week, not however until it had bitten his favorite coon dog, which when last heard from was in a critical condition.
—We had a quiet wedding at Mr. G. W. Estes' last Thursday at 4 o'clock P. M. His daughter, Miss Annie Estes, and Mr. Eberlee Smith were united in matrimony by Rev. Long.
—We regret very much that your able reporter, Mr. E. Tarrant, has left us, but that clever old soldier can sling the ink where other men can't, and we are glad to note his lengthy and interesting items from any point he may visit even though he should some day wander off into the no man's land.
—Mr. Daniel Lucas, of whom we wrote in our last, still remains in hard luck. A few years ago G. W. Estes found a bee tree in his woodland, but love money nor honey could not induce him to have it cut, but some parties came in the dead hours of the night and cut the tree. He has since found a bucket lid which he thinks a good clue, also a portion of the leg of a pair of pants which indicates the hasty departure of the thieves.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

FOR SALE.—44 good ewes. W. M. McAfee, Stanford.
—I have 40 nice ewes for sale. M. O. Vandever, Rowland.
—FOR SALE.—A high grade Jersey cow and heifer calf. A No. 1 milker. J. G. Carpenter.
—FOR SALE.—One Alderney cow, one Jersey and a scrub, all good milkers. Mrs. C. B. St. Clair.
—The Paris News says M. Kahn shipped 15 cars of fat cattle from there last Thursday which cost him 5¢.
—Ben Robinson bought of various East End parties a car-load of fat 2 and 3-year-old cattle at 2¢ to 3¢ cents.
—Pence, owned by A. M. Pence, lowered his record to 2:27 at the Richmond fair by winning a heat in that time.
—R. O. Cromwell, of Union county, raised 84 bushels of wheat on two acres, and his crop of 38 acres averaged 25 bushels.
—The Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat reports sales of 96 cattle at 5¢ for August delivery and 5 to 5¢ for September and 73 present delivery at 5 to 5¢.
—The wheat crop of Russia is 60,000,000 bushels short, and the rye crop is 300,000,000 bushels short. The French wheat crop is also short 100,000,000 bushels.
—The press bureau of the farmers' alliance at Washington is at present very busy sending out circulars to farmers advising them to hold back the wheat crop for higher prices.
—E. W. Jones, real estate agent at Pineville, sold for Mr. George A. Peyton his farm of 50 acres, near the Somerset pike, for $1,800 to Mr. Archibald Green, who will move to it.
—Wheat is coming in to Lancaster rather slowly. The price continues steady at 75c for a No. 1 article. Hemp commands $4.50. Nothing doing in other lines of trade.—Lancaster Record.
—The best American beehives are worth 14 cents in the London market to-day. At this time last year 12¢ was the outside quotation. Such cattle as are now selling in the Chicago market at 6 to 8¢ were quoted at 4.85 to 5 one year ago.
—James George made sales of about 30 head of mountain cattle at 2 to 3¢. He sold to C. M. Jenkins, of Garrard county, 150 mountain ewes at $3.60 per head. W. J. Davidson sold to George Marrigale 30 acres offland on Pitman Creek for $250.—Somerset Reporter.
—The Taylor county fair will be held Aug. 11-14, at Campbellsburg. The company has one of the best half mile tracks in the State and some of the best trotters are entered. A saddle stallion ring with $300 premium, entries to close Aug. 12, is one of the big features. Mr. H. S. Robinson, the secretary, writes that everything indicates a large and successful exhibition.
—W. C. Gentry bought Wednesday of George Dunn 30 head of feeders, about 1,350 pounds, at a fraction over 4 cents. J. C. Caldwell bought of W. T. Robinson two car-loads of fat cattle, averaging about 1,500 pounds, at 4.35 to 5. D. N. Prewitt bought of J. W. Harlan 94 stock ewes at $3.50 per head. Cogar, Haas & Co., of this city, have bought about 4,000 bushels of wheat this week for 75 cents. Richard Gentry bought of Eubanks & Bro., of Hubble, for Lehman, 10 head export cattle of 1,500 pounds average, at 5.20. He also bought four car-loads of 1,625 pound export cattle in Fayette.—Advocate.

BARBOURVILLE, KNOX COUNTY.

—Hon. John H. Wilson, Judge Tinsley and others spoke at the court-house here yesterday in opposition to the new constitution to quite a good crowd.
—The Rev. J. C. Stuley and Miss Fannie James were married at the residence of the bride's father, six miles in the country, Thursday last. There was quite a crowd from town went out to witness the occasion.
—Miss Minnie Elliott, of Kirksville, is visiting Miss Nannie Anderson. Miss Roberta China, of Lexington, is with the family of Maj. S. B. Dishman. Miss Annie Lee Dishman is home from a visit to friends in Pineville.
—David G. Colson, of Middlesboro, and Col. Clark, of this city, discussed the constitution at Manchester, Clay county, yesterday (Monday). Col. Clark, Mr. Colson, Chas. W. Schively and the writer left for that point Sunday afternoon.
—The Hon. John H. Wilson returned Friday morning from a trip down through Clinton, Wayne, Russell and Adair counties, where he has been speaking in the interest of the Republican State ticket and in opposition to the proposed constitution.
—The writer had the pleasure of attending a discussion of the constitution pro and con, Thursday, at Callihan's School House, five miles from town, on Richland Creek, between Judge Tinsley and Col. A. H. Clark in opposition and Smith Hays for it. There were about 125 voters out and two of them said they would vote for the new, the others for the old constitution.
—Hon. John Young Brown addressed the citizens of Barbourville and Knox county at the court-house, last Thursday. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity. Mr. Brown made a masterly effort and the democrats of this section say they never heard the like before. Hon. James B. Black, of this city, introduced Mr. Brown in a few well chosen and well delivered sentences. Mr. Brown and party left that evening for "Ely Dale," the home of Maj. O. P. Ely and his good wife, eight miles south of this place on the L. & N. railroad, where he remained from Thursday evening until Saturday morning, when the party left for Middlesboro, where Mr. Brown spoke that day.

COOK'S SPRINGS.

—The grandest picnic and banquet of the season will be given Saturday, Aug. 1. Among the many attractions will be a splendid dinner and supper, two bands of music, base ball playing, speaking, boating, and Professor Runyon, a very fine violinist, will have charge of the ball-room. Will have a strong police force on the grounds and the best of order will be preserved. Everybody invited.
J. F. Cook.
Referring to Zack Phelps' infamous charge that Senator Carlisle is against the new constitution because the lottery companies, which it abolishes, gave him a house, Mr. Watterson says: If the author of the original calumny against Mr. Carlisle had any sense of justice, or propriety, or even of ordinary accountability, he would make his charge good by proof, or withdraw it, with suitable explanation and apology.

STANFORD, KY., - JULY 28, 1891

Taxation Under the New Constitution.

It has been frequently pointed out that Sec. 176 of the new constitution necessarily subjects to taxation 90 millions worth of the milch cows, household furniture and farming implements of the people, which are now by law exempt from taxation, that it reduces the poor man's exemptions from $850 as they now stand to $250, in any event, and to nothing if the legislature should deem it proper. This just and grave objection to the new instrument has never to our knowledge been fairly or candidly met. That its effect will be as stated any one capable of understanding plain English is bound to see, that this was intended to be its effect, that the deliberate purpose of the convention was to cut down the property exempt from taxation and prevent any future legislature from exempting more than $250 worth, is clearly apparent from the debates on this section. They held then that the legislature had exempted too much of this class of property from taxation, and that this was a wrong which needed correction. Now, they are either as dumb as oysters on the subject, or attempt to evade and dodge it. We have before us a marked copy of the Morganfield Sun, which contains an elaborate article from the pen of the Hon. I. A. Spalding, in defense of this feature of the new constitution. Presumably it is the best argument which can be made, inasmuch as it is the only one we have seen, and its author was a leading member of the convention and is a man of character and ability. Let's examine his defense a moment and see if any sane taxpayer can be deluded by it.

"The Hewitt law exempts $250 worth of each of these descriptions of property to every housekeeper, together with other exemptions amounting in all to about $850. Do the housekeepers all get the benefit of these exemptions? Those who own the specific property exempted do get the benefit. But how many do not own the property the exemption does them no good, and its removal does them no harm. The removal of the exemption will not subject any property to taxation which they do not own.

How is it under the new constitution? By its provisions $250 worth of personally exempted, and if a man has not that much household property he can add a horse or wagon or any other personal property to make up the $250. A great many men own $250 of all kinds of personal property who do not own $50 worth of furniture or farm machinery, and all such persons will get the full benefit of the constitutional exemption."

Now every one understands that under the present constitution the power of the people through the legislature to exempt any and all kinds of property from taxation is absolutely unlimited. The new constitution in Section 176 places this restriction on this power of all future legislatures: "Provided not more in value of household goods and other personal property, of a person with a family, than $250 shall be exempted from taxation." Does this exempt $250 worth of property from taxation? Does it exempt one cent's worth from taxation? Most assuredly not. It simply prohibits the legislature from exempting more than $250 worth from taxation, and only inferentially permits it to exempt up to that amount. It is not an exemption but a restriction of exemption. It is a mere brutum fulmen in any aspect until the legislature acts, and when it does act it must declare specifically, as in the present law, for exemptions cannot be made in general terms, what kinds of personal property, and what amounts of them shall be exempt, the aggregate not to exceed $250. The legislature to distribute the benefit of the exemption as equally as possible will be compelled, for instance, to exempt only $50 worth of furniture instead of $250 as now, $50 worth of farming implements instead of $250 now, and so on through the scale. This meaning, this effect of the section in question, is so plain, so clear, so indisputable, as to make any argument about it other than the quotation of its language, a sheer impertinence. The dullest dunce who ever wore a foolscap couldn't be mistaken about it. And yet here we have a distinguished member of the convention, careful all the while not to quote the section, asserting that the new constitution has actually exempted $250 worth of personal property, "and if a man has not that much household property he can add a horse or wagon or any other personal property to make up the $250." By this extraordinary rule of construction, the new constitution, when it provides that private property shall be taken for public use only upon proper compensation, actually appropriates for public uses all the private property in the State, and, again, when it says that the sessions of the legislature shall not be longer than 60 days it means that they must be that long even if the business is concluded in five minutes.

Is this dishonesty, or is it only feeble-mindedness? Or, rather, isn't it the off-spring of that complacent assumption, everywhere indulged by the constitution makers, that the people are blooming idiots?

CAN any of our contemporaries give us any information about the Tar-Old Co., Chicago?

It Don't Even Spare the Dead.

It seems that the new constitution, in its greed for revenue, is not content with increasing the taxes of the living but provides a tax also for the dead. Compare the law as it is with what it will be under the new instrument. The present law (Gen. Stat. Chap. 92, Art. 1, Sec. 9, Sub sec. 5,) exempts from taxation "all public cemeteries except those owned by joint-stock companies or associations which declare a dividend." By this law no burial grounds are taxed except such as are organized for money making purposes and actually declare dividends for its owners. This is right and just. The new constitution, however, takes apparently a different view of the subject. Section 176 exempts "places of burial not held for private or corporate profit." This change of phraseology must mean something, and to our comprehension it means that all the burial places in the State will be subjected to the same tax as other property. We venture to say there is not a cemetery in Kentucky not held for corporate profit, whose charter—which is the tenure by which it is held—does not contemplate and even encourage the making of a corporate profit. We do not mean to say that this profit is usually distributed among the stockholders in the shape of a "dividend." On the contrary it is perhaps invariably devoted to the payment of small salaries, and to the improvement and adornment of the grounds, thus enhancing the value of the corporate property. But where lands are permitted to be bought, even for burial purposes, by the acre and sold by the foot the enhanced price is certainly a "profit," no matter to what purposes it may be appropriated. The difference between the new law and the old is simply this—the old only taxes cemeteries which actually distribute these profits among the stockholders in the shape of a dividend, while the new taxes all which are held for profit, regardless of what disposition is made of that profit. Thus the Stanford Cemetery is a chartered corporation with stockholders, a board of directors, &c. They are authorized to purchase land for burial purposes and to sell burial lots at any price they may choose to fix. They are at perfect liberty under their charter to do as they please with the proceeds of these sales, which represent a considerable profit, because they buy their lands at about $75 per acre and sell at $2 per foot. If they should divide these profits among the stockholders their property would be taxed under existing law and properly taxed, but if they apply them, as in point of fact they do, to enlarge and to beautify their grounds, they would not be taxed by the present law, but would under the new provided a profit of any kind or for any purpose is made out of the sale of their lands.

Any property, in other words, may be held for "corporate profit," and may make a corporate profit, without declaring a dividend, just as the profits of manufacturing and mining corporations are frequently expended in enlarging their plants and are thus added to their capital. The Stanford Cemetery Company plainly, by their charter, hold their land for "corporate profit," and doubtless make a profit. Must it not be taxed under the new constitution just as its neighbor, the Stanford Roller Mill is, which holds its property in precisely the same manner, and which has for years been devoting its profits to precisely the same purpose? The same is true of the cemetery at Crab Orchard, which is held by the Odd Fellows for corporate profit in the same sense that we have indicated, and the same is doubtless true of every other public cemetery in the State. The assessor will have to put them all on his list.

The laboring men will vote for the new constitution because it forever prohibits the competition of convict labor with free labor. It requires that the penitentiary convicts shall all be worked within the prison walls and not put upon public works or hired out in competition with free laborers.—Richmond Register. Beg your pardon. Such a reckless statement would induce the belief that you had not read the document. See Sec. 262, which gives the legislature the power to authorize the employment of convicts upon the public works, or when, for any cause, they cannot be provided for in the penitentiary. Tote fair gentlemen, and leave the demagogue to appeal to passion and prejudice.

AFTER swearing that they would not consent to the governor's terms the miners at Briceville, Tenn., consented and peace reigns again supreme. The convicts are to work in the mines unmolested and the governor is to call a session of the legislature to which the miners are to submit their claims. There is general rejoicing in Tennessee and elsewhere in this peaceful solution of a matter which promised no end of bloodshed.

SO FAR as we have observed all the delegates to the constitutional convention, with perhaps a republican exception or two, who have offered for the legislature or other offices, have been sat upon. The last to be flattened out is Judge Bullitt, of McCracken, who wanted to go to the legislature. He was beaten Saturday by J. M. Quigley, who received fully two-thirds of all the votes cast in the county.

—Kentucky is said to have a surplus of 40,000,000 gallons of whiskey.

KENTUCKIANS will next Monday have the first chance since the expiration of Reed's Billion Dollar Congress to express their condemnation of the high-handed, unscrupulous and profligate measures and means resorted to by it. The iniquitous McKinley bill whereby the tariff duties are increased many fold, especially on the necessities of life, in a time of profoundest peace and more than a quarter of a century after the close of war; the Force bill which was designed to throttle the voice of the Southern people by placing elections in the hands of partisan republicans with the power at the point of a bayonet to do their own registration, enumeration and certification; the utter disregard of precedent, whereby the will of the minority was ignored and its rights denied and the shameful waste of the public money are to be considered by every voter, who will by his ballot endorse or condemn the reckless course of the party in power. The result therefore of next Monday's election is of more moment than the mere selection of State officers, for it will tell to the country at large how the democracy of Kentucky feels toward the further usurpation of power that the republicans have attempted. Whether justly or not a reduction in the majority given our State ticket, will be accepted by the republican newspapers and speakers as evidence of our lukewarmness and it will be heralded as a victory for the administration and its miserable coadjutors. This is of all others not the time for democrats to go off on side issues and we are sure none of them with the interest of the country at heart will do so. A vote for Brown and our admirable State and county ticket is a vote against Harrison, Reed, McKinley and the other conspirators against the power and rights of the people. Be sure to go to the polls and have it recorded for democracy and honest government.

COL. W. H. POLK, who is now associate editor of the Lexington Transcript, never loses an occasion to pelt his enemies at Middlesboro. He says of O. O. Hall, who ran the Herald into a hole with several thousands of other people's money: "He is the advertising agent of the Middlesboro Town Company, who from an ordinary Cincinnati reporter got into his present position and labors under the hallucination that he is little lower than the angels." This is a little more moderate than we expected of Polk. There are people who think that Hall thinks he is much higher and better than even the archangels.

NOTWITHSTANDING the republican convention at the dictation of Col. W. O. Bradley used the party lash to make the members of that party vote for the new constitution, a good many of the leaders and a large number of others who are not hoping for Federal office, will vote against the crazy quilt of statute laws. We know a dozen republicans in this county who do not propose to be dictated to in a matter which had no business in a party platform.

The proper time to "sew" turnips is now agitating the mind of Farmer Logan, of the Louisville Times, since constitutional questions are barred. It is well that the old hayseed has so fruitful a subject to fall back on.

The Louisville Truth says that Logan Carlisle, a son of the senator, is now an editorial writer on the Courier-Journal, and promises to distinguish himself as much in journalism as his father has in politics.

NEWSY NOTES.

—During the great panic of 1857 in the United States 7,200 houses failed for $500,000,000.

—Mrs. Searles, widow of Mark Hopkins, died at Methuen, Mass., Saturday, leaving $40,000,000.

—Dr. Hazzard, of Alleghany City, Pa., has organized a league for the extermination of the sparrow. Each member must kill fifty birds.

—Dr. J. L. Rose has been appointed medical pension examiner for Jellico, postoffice Williamsburg.

—George W. Higgins, of Pulaski, was fatally shot by Miss Minnie Reddy, who was handling a pistol, which he bantered her to shoot at him.

—William Lloyd Garrison Camp, United Brothers of Friendship, of Louisville, captured the first prize in the competitive drill at Chicago.

—The supreme court of Virginia has decided that the law of the State which forbids the running of freight trains on Sunday is unconstitutional.

—John Brown, who killed John Gardner, at Jackson, Tenn., Saturday evening, was taken from the jail at midnight by a crowd of 500, and hanged.

—Ex Mayor O'Connor of Paris has withdrawn from the legislative race in Bourbon, leaving E. M. Dickson, the democrat nominee, the sole candidate.

—A fire which broke out in J. B. Cowan & Co.'s whisky house, in which were stored 700 barrels of whisky, destroyed $300,000 worth of property at Dallas, Texas.

—Six lives were lost in a collision between two passenger trains on the Denver & Rio Grande, near Carlisle Springs, Col. The accident was the result of misunderstood orders.

—Joseph Fayley pointed what he thought was an unloaded shotgun at a crowd of pioneers near Wheeling, W. Va. Miss Sarah McGowan was killed, and two other persons were seriously injured.

—Twenty buildings burned at Newport News Sunday, causing a loss of $50,000.

—William Todd shot and fatally wounded Elijah Young at a picnic in Madison. Both were drunk.

—A mob hung a negro near Franklin because he drew a knife on a white man. He was the third person to swing for the same limb. His murderers ought to be made to atone also.

—The jailer of Madison county was fined $500 in the Wolfe circuit court for refusing to obey an order of said court for the delivery of a horse thief to the sheriff of Wolfe county.

—Campbell & Elliott's cotton and woolen mill was destroyed by fire in Philadelphia. The loss is from $600,000 to $750,000. Over 450 men, women and children are thrown out of work.

—The second section of an excursion train ran into the first at St. Mandé, near Paris, France. The wreck took fire, and the last reports say 49 people were killed and 100 severely injured.

—John Myford and Harry Boyd, two young Monongahela City miners, fought with bare knuckles according to prize ring rules. In the fourth round Boyd killed Myford with a blow on the neck.

—The Elizabethtown News says a man sold $100 worth of plums from a tract of land he gave $450 for this spring. There never was such a crop of fruit as this year laden the trees on Muldraugh's Hill.

—The boiler of a steam thrasher exploded on James Durbin's farm, in Edmonson county. John Durbin, William Basham and John Massey were instantly killed, and five others will die of their injuries.

—Deputy United States Marshal George Armstrong, en route to Louisville with a lot of moonshiners, was shot and instantly killed at Morehead by Constable Simms over the shooting of a hog by Armstrong.

—Harrison Sallee, aged about 76 years, died at his home in Monticello, Wednesday, after an extended illness. He leaves a widow and one grown son. He was a brother of the late M. P. Sallee, of this county.—Advocate.

—Hon. Jerry Simpson, speaking at Birmingham, Ala., declared that John Sherman, the father of our financial system, is the arch enemy of the human race, and that the alliance has determined to defeat him in Ohio.

—The coupling pin of an excursion train, broke near Dayton, O., leaving two coaches filled with happy people just in front of a heavy freight train, which struck them killing three outright and wounding scores of others.

—The total collections for internal revenue for the first six months of this year were $146,035,376, an increase of 3½ millions over the year before. Kentucky paid $15,858,707, which is the third highest amount of any State.

—The Cape Cod, Mass., people welcomed Mr. Cleveland and wife to their summer home at Sandwich, Saturday, in royal style. The ex president was given an ovation and banquet and to the toast "Our Neighbor," he responded in his usual happy manner.

—Charles M. Osburn, a wholesale commission merchant, was hanged at Atlanta, Friday, for killing a retail merchant who disputed his account to the amount of 5 cents. Strong efforts were made to save him both through the governor and the legislature.

—Dr. Smith, of New Haven, who smoked 70 cigarettes a day for 20 years, is dead, and so is O. L. Morse, Windham, Conn., at the age of 91, who stated in his will that he had drunk a pint of rum a day for 21 years. Did cigarettes and rum do the business for them?

—There are according to the school census 584,041 white and 114,123 colored children of the school age in Kentucky, an increase of 11,336 over 1890. The per capita, $2.25, is the same for both white and colored children, and excepting the State of California, which pays her school expenses out of her sales of immense tracts of unoccupied lands, it is the largest school per capita in the Union from direct taxation, out of the State treasury.

—A negro tramp named Craig called at the residence of Nathan C. Conway, near Paris, Sunday, and asked for a drink of water. It was given to him, when, without apparent provocation he began a murderous assault on the family with an old scythe blade, killing Mr. and Mrs. Conway, both old people, and perhaps fatally injured Charles and William, two grown sons. Neighbors, who came to the rescue, shot the murderer to death while he was pursuing one of his victims.

—John Dean, 16, of Garrard, and Miss Eunice Blakeman, 15, of Jessamine, eloped to Tennessee and were married.

—Sam Owens and Miss Elizabeth Bailey were married at Mrs. Mary Bailey's yesterday. He is 22 and she sweet 16.

—Mr. O. T. Bone, a widower of 45, and Miss Della Denham, just 18, were married yesterday at J. P. Denham's, in the East End.

—When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

—When she became a Child, she cried for Castoria.

—When she was Married, she clung to Castoria.

—When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A MOONSHINER named William Loving and R. D. Wilson, wanted in Missouri for the robbery of a postoffice, were arrested in Laurel and taken to Louisville by Deputy U. S. Marshal Parker, Friday.

PASSENGERS along the Crab Orchard pike fail to recognize the large residence of Hon. John S. Owsley since the transformation from a white to a red brick penciled and painted. The improvement is very decided.

PORTER ROBINSON tells us that he shocked hay all day Saturday taster than George Benedict could rake it up with a snaky rake. We do not know whether this is to prove Benedict's laziness or the shortness of the crop.

If you are in doubt about the way you should vote on the constitution, have yourself recorded against it. It is not a constitution, except in name, but a string of experimental statutes, which should not be placed in such imperishable form.

THE First National Bank here, which holds $50,000 of the 4 1/2 per cent. bonds payable Sep. 1, will exchange them for the 2 per cents. and thus help Secretary Foster out of a hole, while doing no violence to their own interests.

THE announcement of Garrard College appears in this issue and especial attention is directed to it. President J. C. Gordon has gathered a splendid faculty around him and added greatly to the well-earned reputation of the institution. Send to him for catalogue and further information.

BASE BALL.—The Nicholasville base ball team will play the INTERIOR JOURNAL on the grounds here, this afternoon, at 3 o'clock. There are few better amateur clubs than the Nicholasvilles, but the J.'s will prove equal to the emergency we believe and get in a score or two. Don't fail to see the game.

MR. JOHN BRIGHT found an old book in his papers the other day, which was printed about 1800. In it is used for s's, and there are other peculiarities of the typography of the long ago. Speaking of Stanford it says that it had in 1790 a good stone court-house and jail, 40 dwellings, and 43 white inhabitants and 20 slaves.

FRIDAY Marshal Newland arrested Sam Lee, alias Ball, alias Logan on suspicion that he was implicated in the robbery of a freight car at Livingston on the night of the 2nd of May when a lot of boots, shoes and other merchandise was stolen. He was lodged in jail, but on furnishing the officer some valuable information with reference to the robbery he was released.

AN excursion over the K. C. from Rowland to Cincinnati will be run August 6, leaving here at 6 A. M., and arriving at 10 o'clock. Returning leave Cincinnati at 12 midnight on the 7th. The occasion is the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ohio Colored Odd Fellows. The round-trip fare is only $2. See Anderson Carr or Jesse J. Thompson for further particulars.

THE first act of Gillis Johnson, the keeper of the notorious doggerly at Gum Spring, after being liberated from the Pineville jail on a bond for $300, furnished by his kinsman, Andy Johnson, created additional regret that he had not suffered the fate of Rossinus at the hands of the Middleboro mob. A brother of his was breaking rock in the chain gang at Pineville for some offense, whom he took from the guards, who were afraid to resist, and struck to the mountains. A few more hangings seem to be necessary in that section and they ought not to be confined to itinerant stone cutters.

A GENTLEMAN who claims to be posted says that he has never seen the republicans so compactly organized as they are at present in this county and that unless the democratic leaders shall arouse themselves and get out the full party vote, some surprises are in store for election day. He says that this almost absolute mobilization of the republican forces may be entirely in behalf of the State ticket, but he is of the opinion that it is for the purpose of capturing at least one of the county offices. In other words there is likely to be a candidate for county judge in opposition to Judge Vernon. Forewarned is forearmed. Let those whose duty it is see that every democratic vote is polled and scotch this little game, if it is attempted ob played.

Don't forget that your account is past due. Please call and settle. J. B. Foster.

LEAVE your laundry with Severance & Son, Albert Severance, agent for Lexington Steam Laundry.

A YOUNG man of this place is said to have skipped, taking with him a blooming young girl, about whom he and his wife quarreled Saturday night.

THE majority for the democratic State ticket should be fully 50,000, and Lincoln ought to contribute 2,000 votes to that end. Let every democrat be at the polls next Monday.

THE public school in Stanford white district will begin August 24, Misses Cettie Thurmond and Alice Stuart teachers. All children in the school age in said district are requested to attend. J. M. McRoberts, Jr., chairman.

MR. E. W. JONES, of Pineville, is making a specialty of blue-grass farms in his real estate agency. He sold the Peyton farm yesterday, and on the 4th of August he will be down with quite a number of rich mountaineers who want to locate in this section.

THE third or people's party movement, has we are glad to say, no followers in Lincoln county. A majority of our farmers are satisfied that their only hope of relief can come from the good old democratic party, and they are not disposed to try experiments.

THIS office is putting in a new engine made by the James Leffel Co., Springfield, O., an improvement on the one of their make that we have been using over 10 years. We speak from experience when we say that The Leffel is the simplest and cheapest engine on the market.

HON. W. H. MILLER spoke at Liberty yesterday, and will speak to-day at Alcott's Store for the new constitution. His other appointments for Casey are Neely's Gap, 28, at 7 P. M.; Mt. Olive, 29, at 1 o'clock; Bethel, 29, at 7; Phil, 30, at 1; Lees, 30, at 4, and at Belton's Store, 31, at 11 A. M.

A MADISON man named Campbell, who was pretty well filled upon whisky, tried to take the excursion train while coming from the Richmond fair Saturday evening. He amused himself for a short while by shooting promiscuously about the car, but when Conductor Taylor saw what was going on he promptly stopped the business by ejecting Campbell from the train.

THE representation of the counties in the next democratic convention will be fixed by the vote of next Monday. Owing to the slimness of the vote at the last general election, Lincoln's vote in the late convention was several less than it ought to have been. Don't let us suffer this to occur again, but turn out every man and vote the whole ticket from Brown to Edmiston.

PROF. DODGE, of Berea College, republican candidate for superintendent of public instruction, spoke here Friday night to an audience composed with but three exceptions of colored people. His principal theme was the Tate defalcation, which he worked on his hearers for all it was worth, but neglected to tell them about the millions the thieving members of his party had stolen from the people.

A VERY pleasant company of 150 or more are enjoying the splendid accommodations and excellent fare at Crab Orchard Springs. Miss Annie McLaughlin is further demonstrating her superior qualities as manager, while Mr. D. B. Edmiston continues to win golden opinions from the guests for his urbanity and gentlemanly conduct of the clerk's office. A number of distinguished people are there and pretty girls and handsome widows are smashing hearts that had thought themselves proof against feminine darts. Crab Orchard is one of the most all-around delightful resorts in Kentucky, a fact to which all who go there will attest.

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.—Tuesday night, as Mr. W. H. Miller was returning from his appointment at Turnerville he met three persons near Mr. J. M. Wray's, who sang out "halt" to him. Thinking that they were boys bent on having fun at his expense he drove on, when a second demand was made. Mr. Miller enquired "What do you mean?" when he was answered with a volley of pistol shots, one ball from which passed through the crown of his hat within an inch of his head. The men or boys were afoot and Mr. Miller whipping up his horse was soon out of the range of their bullets. Mr. Miller thinks that it was a deliberate attempt to assassinate him and has an idea that he can spot the guilty parties, though he would give us no clue to his suspicions. Others think that it was the attempt of some drunken youths to bulldoze and frighten the first man that they met. In any event the deed was a most dastardly one. If it was the premeditated attempt of midnight assassins to wreak their cowardly vengeance their crime can only be fully atoned for with their necks. If it was the prank of drunken boys, their reckless disregard of life is almost as reprehensible and deserves the most condign punishment. Let the matter be fully investigated and the guilty be brought to justice.

Grant said: "An annual pension appropriation of $27,000,000 is not only an ample, but an extravagant pension for those who suffered in the late war." In 1872 Gen. Garfield said: "Nothing but unwarrantable extravagance will increase the pension list above $29,000,000." This year we are paying $135,000,000 for pensions, and there will be a deficit of at least $20,000,000 for the Fifty-second Congress to make good. Was there ever so huge a swindle perpetrated on a long-suffering people?

IMPERIAL OIL SHOE POLISH.

WHY SHOULD LADIES USE IT?

Because it is the best; it is a beautiful jet black; it contains no acids; it contains no alcohol nor anything else that will burn the leather and make it crack; it is harmless to leather; it benefits the leather; it contains oil; it softens the leather; it will not rub off the shoes and soil ladies' skirts; it is economical, for it will make shoes on which it is regularly applied wear two or three times longer than when ordinary acid dressings are used.

SUCCESSOR TO THE LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK OF STANFORD.

(Now closing up) with the same assets and under the same management.

By provisions of its charter, depositors are as fully protected as are depositors in National Banks, its shareholders being held individually liable to the extent of the amount of their stock therein at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. It may act as executor, administrator, trustee, etc., as fully as an individual.

To those who entrusted their business to us while managing the Lincoln National Bank of Stanford, we here tender our many thanks and trust they will continue to transact their business with us, offering as a guarantee for prompt attention to same, our twenty years' experience in banking and as liberal accommodations as are consistent with sound banking.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF STANFORD, KY.

Capital Stock.....$200,000
Surplus.....16,500

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford. Under the provisions of the National Bank Act, depositors are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $400,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.

This institution, originally established as the Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1858, then re-organized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1865 and Stanford in 1884 has had practically an uninterrupted existence of 37 years. It is better supplied now with facilities for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career. Accounts of corporations, fiduciaries, firms and individuals respectfully solicited.

The Directory of this Bank is composed of
T. J. Foster, of Stanford;
Foresters Reid, Lincoln county;
J. W. Hayden, Stanford;
S. H. Baughman, Lincoln;
M. J. Miller, Mt. Vernon;
S. T. Harris, Lincoln;

European Alliances.

"Europe is peace!" says the emperor of Germany to his subjects. And he then drinks bumper after bumper of German beer and remarks that it is a thirsty day. "Peace is assured in Europe," says Premier Rudini in a speech to the Italian senate. Then Rudini congratulates his fellow countryman that Austria, Germany and Italy have renewed the triple alliance, the "Dreikund," for six years more. Nay, we are given to understand that the triple alliance is really a quadruple alliance, for England is a silent partner in the agreement which Austria, Germany and Italy have made to defend one another against the aggressions of France and Russia.

The triple alliance began in 1879. In the beginning it was only a double alliance, and Bismarck was the founder of it. Bismarck, by his diplomacy at the Berlin conference, defeated Russia in her designs on Turkish territory, even after she had enticed herself to a fair share of it by hard fighting and victory on the field of battle. Then Bismarck, fearing the far reaching revenge of the Russian, persuaded Austria to enter into an alliance, offensive and defensive, against the government of the czar. Next Italy was persuaded by promises and threats to enter into the alliance, and it became consequently the Dreikund. Thus diplomacy and statesmanship, so called, forced the people of Italy to stand side by side in alliance with their old time and bitterly hated enemy, the Austrian. They have never forgiven their rulers for that alliance to this day, and will not in our time. Germany felt uneasy as to France, too, so France was watched on one side and Russia on the other.

But what does it mean, this triple alliance, which began in 1879, lasted six years, came to an end and has been renewed for another six years? Let us see. It means that Germany, Austria and Italy must together maintain an armed force of 5,140,000, that being the strength of the combined standing armies of the three powers. Behold these three, then, on one side of the fence. On the other side stand Russia and France with their combined armies of 5,805,000 men. So they stand, snarling and showing their teeth, like dogs ready to fly at one another's throats, hating one another, jealous of one another, watching one another. Meantime Russia is steadily, silently, like a thief in the night, pushing her way restlessly into the south and east in Asia. Meantime, too, these fearful standing armies are slowly eating out the heart of Europe, paralyzing her industries, destroying all fruits of the civilization of peace. But Europe is peace, they say.

Oh, yes; Europe is peace.

Journalistic Boiling Down.

As a fine specimen of the ability of a good newspaper writer to "boil down" four columns of matter may be cited the following summary from The Christian Union of Pope Leo's encyclical. The editor of The Christian Union remarks that in this encyclical the holy father has brought the Church of Rome into line with industrial reform. Here is its summary, with its own comment at the close:

THE POPE SAYS:
That there is a labor problem.
That workmen are suffering under gross injustice.
That it is the duty of the church to concern itself with these facts.
That wealth is a trust and must be administered as a trust.
That hours of labor should be such as to give time for soul culture.
That wages should be such as to give opportunity for acquisition of property.
That, if these results cannot be secured by free contract, the law should interfere.
That labor arbitration should take the place of labor battles.
That labor organizations should be encouraged.
That woman labor and child labor should be regulated and reduced by legislation.
That the factory acts are right in principle.
That the church, the state, free labor organization and capitalists should all co-operate in labor reform.
These are all Christian Union positions. We did not expect ten years ago to live to see them advocated from the Vatican by the pope. The world moves.

Sun Spots and the Weather.

The French astronomer Camille Flammarion throws decided cold water on the theory that there is any proved connection between the periodical changes in the sun's spots and storms on our little bit of a planet. If there be such connection, as there probably is, it is not yet sufficiently understood to predicate anything certain about it. There is, however, a terrestrial magnetic variation that is connected in some way with sun spots.

What is definitely known about sun spots is briefly this, according to M. Flammarion: Every eleven years the spots attain their largest size. In those years the greatest magnetic variation is observable on the earth and the greatest daily variation in temperature.

It is thus plain that enormous activity in the solar spots does have a magnetic effect on our earth. But we do not know as yet, says Flammarion, just where the spots themselves are located. They may be in the fiery fog known as the photosphere, which surrounds the sun, or they may be upon the surface of the sun itself.

If it were true that we have more storms in heavy sun spot years than in others, and the storms are proportional to the spots, then we ought to have had twenty times as many storms in 1883 as in 1849, and no storms at all in 1873. But in 1873 the storms were very severe

A Few Fashion Notes.

Sealskin coats will be worn next winter in fashionable sea lion society.

Eight ounce gloves are still in vogue among artists. Undressed kids are often seen in the poorer quarters.

The summer girl will be much worn in August and September.

The summer young man will wear mittens in the fall.

It is not deemed good taste for a young man to shoot his brunette sweetheart with a blue barrelled pistol. Blue is for blonds.

Making Him Less of a Burden.

"Wall, 'peaks like I nevah see you no mo' wid dat chile without heez a toy b'loom in his han's. Should 'tink it 'ud brake you up buyin' b'looms."

"Do you know, I 'tink it meks him lighter t' kerry. He's a pow'ful heavy chile anyhow."—Harper's Bazar.

One Problem Solved.

The professor of natural science at Ann Arbor was discussing the process of fertilizing plants by means of insects carrying the pollen from one plant to another, and to amuse them told how the old maids were the ultimate cause of it all. The humble bees carry the pollen; the field mice eat the humble bees; therefore the more field mice the fewer humble bees and the less pollen and variation of plants. But cats devour the field mice and old maids protect cats. Therefore the more old maids the more cats, the fewer field mice the more bees. Hence old maids are the cause of variety in plants.

Thereupon, a sophomore with a single eyeglass, an English umbrella, a box coat, with his "trousers" rolled up at the bottom, arose and asked:

"I say, y' professah, what is the cause—ah—of old maids, don't you know?"

"Perhaps Miss Jones can tell you," suggested the professor.

"Dudes!" said Miss Jones sharply, and without a moment's hesitation.

There was silence in the room for the space of thirty seconds, after which the lecture was resumed.—Detroit Free Press.

Set It for Hugging.

At the siege of Petersburg a young lieutenant, who was very good looking and a great favorite with the girls at home, was badly wounded in the left arm. Several of the surgeons declared it was necessary to amputate the limb; but finally one of them decided that by removing a section of the bone the arm could be saved. "But," said he, "it will be a bad job, and when healed the arm will be crooked."

The young lieutenant, thinking that any kind of an arm was better than no arm, and with a thought for future conquests, replied:

"Never mind the crook; set it for hugging and go ahead."—Texas Siftings.

Saved.

Dashaway (shaking hands with Miss Summit at the ball)—Do you know, I have a singular feeling, as if I had come away and forgotten something.

Miss Summit (coldly)—Possibly you are not aware, sir, that you have no necktie on.

Dashaway—Oh, is that it? Then, Miss Summit, there is nothing for you to do but to introduce me to your guests as a rising young poet.—Brooklyn Life.

A Revised Opinion.

"I was pleased to call that cake of yours a perfect symphony, as you may remember," said young Mr. Fitts about two hours after dinner.

"Well, dear?"

"I want to revise that expression. I feel now as though I had swallowed a whole Wagnerian opera."—Indianapolis Journal.

Why She Wept.

One of the bridesmaids was softly crying during the ceremony, and her escort, nudging her, whispered:

"What are you crying for? It isn't your wedding."

"That's why I'm crying," she said.—New York Press.

Commencement Essays.

I heard the essays. That one on "The Love of King John and King John." The head girl wrote. She with the wreath. Described Lear's Wanderings on the Heath Quite prettily. Another one "Explained 'The Spots Upon the Sun.'" The Influence of Browning, and "The Early Writings of George Sand; The Transcendental Movement; How It Touches German Letters Now."

All these I sadly listened to: "What earthly good can these things do?" I asked myself. "Does old King John Teach you to sew a patch upon a coat? Or can the spotted sun Ray when it roars rarely done? Do Browning's tangled poems tell The way to mend a stocking well?"

While I was wondering sadly there, A sweet girl rose, and, I declare, She talked about all homely things From washbasins down to muffin rings! She had ten pages all on pie; She knew the choicest way to fry An oyster, and how best to bake A good old fashioned Johnny cake.

Next day that girl was asked to share The fortunes of a millionaire; She now reads Browning's wondrous books, And leaves the cooking to her cooks.

The girl who wrote on Browning's work Is married to a gentle clerk, Whose income's small. No girl have they: She scrubs and cooks the livelong day; And sighs, while bending over the range, When she reflects upon the change— The fall from heaven to humilities To tattered books of recipes.
